

In support of the

Alessia Commisso's Trust Fund

Passionately Inspired Solutions invites you to join Alessia Commisso and her family at The Pavilion Royal Banquet Hall for a plate of pasta and an evening of laughter in her honour on Friday, June 27th, 2008 in support of the Alessia Commisso's Trust Fund.

Alessia Commisso is one of five people globally to have been diagnosed with a rare condition called Leigh's Disease, a Mitochondria disorder. Mitochondria are specialized compartments present in almost every cell of the body. They are responsible for creating more than 90% of the energy needed by the body to sustain life and support growth. This disease limits Alessia's motor skills where she cannot walk or stand up on her own. She requires a wheel chair for mobility. Her father, Tony, has MS and is very weak, unable to do anything on his own and no longer works. Her brother Cosimo, 14, has a seizure disorder and a learning disability as a result of many years of this condition. Her mother, Sonia, is their primary caregiver who works endlessly from the moment she rises in the morning until she goes to sleep to tend to her family's dependent needs. Due to the complexity of care this family requires, Sonia has had to hire private help to supervise her daughter during the night so that she can rest and regain her energy for the next day.
